

Beware the Comedic Hospital

Operating Room itself a laugh track.
“Ladies and Gentlemen! That once was a liver!” Such a giggling response that our surgeon takes a bow. He overdoes this action and nurse spits “Keep your hands to yourself

and the patient, Doctor!” His response?
Inaudible to you but evidently hilarious.

You do hear. “Sew him up. Who sent this corpse? Miracles? See chaplain!”

Grabs complaining nurse’s ass again.
She jumps away. “He never gives up!”

Groaning for the human, and especially your, condition. They turn a handle and more wazoo gas

flows in, taking you out.
Temporarily, you hope.

You smell rubber and decayed flowers.
Somebody makes further wisecrack to

the most smashing guffaw
ever in this witty institution.
